Mission Statement: Gardner-Webb University, a private, Christian, Baptist-related university, provides outstanding undergraduate and graduate education that is strongly grounded in the liberal arts while offering opportunities to prepare for various professions. Fostering meaningful intellectual thought, critical analysis, and spiritual challenge within a diverse community of learning, Gardner-Webb is dedicated to higher education that integrates scholarship with Christian life. By embracing faith and intellectual freedom, balancing conviction with compassion, and inspiring a love of learning, service, and leadership, Gardner-Webb prepares its graduates to make significant contributions for God and humanity in an ever-changing global community.

Student Life

My defintion of Student Life is being able to have fun with my new family. GWU is my new home.

-Megan Tremblay

Student: one who studies; an attentive and systematic observer

Life: a vital or living being

On any given day, students at GWU do their part and study hard. But, outside of the classroom, students find very interesting ways to keep themselves entertained, both on and off campus. From Service Learning projects to the Spring Formal, school trips to watching movies on the quad with friends, or even trips to nearby Charlotte to eat out or dance the night away, students at GWU are always busy and having fun, whether we want to admit it or not. This is how we define Student Life.

At Gardner-Webb University, Service-Learning is an integration of service objectives and learning objectives intentionally designed to evoke a meaningful change in both service recipients and service providers, thus fostering a life long sense of community engagement. The Service-Learning commitmnt clearly characterizes Gardner-Webb University's motto "Pro Deo et Humanitate" - For God and Humanity.

Gardner-Webb Students Headed to Washington, D.C. for the Historic Inauguration of President Barack Obama

Left: Michelle Alwerdt pretends to act as a news announcer on the Washington, D.C. trip.

Nine students from the Communications and Political Science Departments and one faculty member formed the Gardner-Webb University contingent participating in this year's historic presidential inauguration in Washington, DC. The students joined 650 of their colleagues from arond the country and participated in a special 10 day seminar on the Media and the Presidency conducted by the Washington Center for Internships and Academics. The program included classes taught by Dana Bash, Bob Shieffer, Juan Williams, Ted Koppel and others; participation in special broadcasts of C-Span and NPR; site visits that included the Embassy of Bahrain, The Economic and Cultural Center for Taiwan, and the American Civil Liberties Union; small group discussions on the possibilities and constraints of presidential power, or the importance of citizenship; as well as tours of the city, The Capitol, and other activities. The program culminated with GWU students taking their spaces in the frigid cold and among 1.5 million others to watch the transfer of power from former President Bush to President Obama. While in DC, the students met up with some GWU alums living and working in Washington, and an evening at Professor Kuchinsky's home before heading back to North Carolina. The Washington Center offers hundreds of future internship possibilities for interested GWU students.

Dorm Life

The dorms are a center of activity for a college student. Whether it's just hanging out, napping, studying, making new friends, or participating in activities offered by Residence Life, Gardner-Webb Students always find something fun to do in the dorms.

Snow Day!

Although the snow did not choose to stick around, the winter of 2008-2009 brought some of the heaviest overnight snow fall in several years. GWU students enthusiastically took advantage of their short lived winter wonderland by sledding, building snow men, making snow angels, and engaging in good natured snowball fights. It might not snow much in Boiling Springs, but GWU students certainly know how to have fun when it does.

DANCES

Dance is the freedom of expression. At GWU, it is an outlet to reduce the stresses of exams, classes and college life by letting the students come out and dance the evening away.

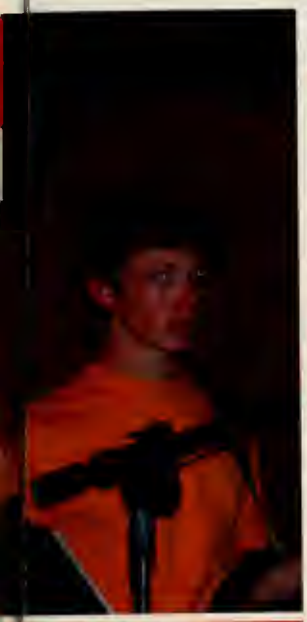
Open Mic Night

Gardner-Webb has talent! Once a week, students, faculty, and community members gather at the Broad River Coffee Company coffee house to express their creativity, listen to good music, hang out with friends, and enjoy good coffee.



Clubs & Activities

Club: an association of persons for some common object usually jointly supported and meeting periodically

Clubs at Garner-Webb are a great way to meet new friends, have great fellowship and help our school. Whether it's community service, missions, academic achievement, or just fun, clubs at GWU are a staple of what makes us who we are. We use this time to acknowledge our peers for the good times and the difficult.

Alpha Chi

Membership in Alpha Chi (AX) is the highest academic honor available to students at Gardner-Webb University. AX is a national organization for honors students in all disciplines. The membership requirements are very strict: qualifying students must be juniors and seniors who place in the upper 10% of their classes in terms of G.P.A. These students must also have demonstrated evidence of good character. Students who qualify for and join Alpha Chi are eligible to wear a special medal at graduation and their AX membership is announced when their names are called.

Every year Alpha Chi members plan events for the campus community to promote scholarship and good scholarly attitudes. In 2008-2009, Alpha Chi planned a week to celebrate academic integrity in November. In October, AX members provided assistance at events when the campus hosted the writer/undertaker Thomas Lynch, and in March 2009, AX members assisted with the Life-of-the-Scholar Multidisciplinary Conference. In April 2009, eight AX members gave impressive scholarly presentations at the national AX convention in Indianapolis. Three GWU students: Sarah Fisher, Lauren Quesenberry, and Jennifer Cheek, won presentation prizes in their disciplines, and Sarah Fisher won a prestigious Nolle Scholarship.

This year Alpha Chi had a national service project called the Literacy 500 (since the convention was in Indianapolis). They hoped to collect 500 childrens books for distribution to a childrens hospital. Over 2000 books were collected. All of the GWU students that participated got the T-shirts in the picture as souvenirs.

Marching Band

In Loving Memory of Donald Sidney "Sid" Haton Jr.

1963 - 2008

The job Sid Haton did here at GWU was nothing short of extraordinary. In the time he was here, he built an amazing marching band 108 students strong, he transformed our music technology and was extraordinary with music business, he was a professor of so many courses and with so many amazing talents and he loved his students and they loved him with a passion. He was also a recruiter extraordinaire. The loss to GWU is immeasurable. He was also the perfect colleague and friend. Personally, he was also the nicest, most kind and perhaps most understanding person I have ever met, and we all loved him so very much. You probably know he also met the love of his life here at GWU, Education Professor Sydney Brown, his first week here, and they were married Easter of 2007, and their time together was the happiest and Sid loved her with all his heart and she loved him with all of hers. Sid was everything we hoped for and much more. We will always remember him, as he touched all of our lives in a way that changed each of us.

Joyful Hands

Joyful Hands is a ministry made up of students who have a passion for God and American Sign Language. They meet every Wednesday night to practice. Not only do they practice, they bond as sisters in Christ. The bond that brings them together is signing to their Savior, Jesus Christ. Their ministry is traveling to hearing and Deaf churches and performing praise and worship songs in ASL. Not only do they travel to churches, but they also have the privilege to minister to the student body at Gardner-Webb.

Sigma Zeta

Sigma Zeta is a national science and mathematics honor society. The purpose of this national science and mathematics honor society is two-fold: (1) to encourage and foster and (2) to recognize and honor scholarly achievement by Gardner-Webb University students in the natural sciences, computer sciences, and mathematics.

In the fall of 2008, Sigma Zeta sponsored a Rocket Building Contest. Three building sessions were held in the Physics Lab, where the participants learned how to build a rocket and built their own rockets. The big launch was on December 4th. We shot off approximately twenty rockets to a crowd of forty five people. The categories were: Highest Altitude, Prettiest, Best Aeronautical, Best Failure, and Best Multi-stage.

SNA

Student Nurses Association (SNA) is an organization specifically for all Pre-Nursing, 1st Year, and 2nd Year nursing students at GWU. The purpose of SNA is to aid in the development of professional nurses, to provide educational programs of interest to nursing students and to encourage involvement in professional nursing organizations.

SNA gives nursing students the opportunity to get involved in the community and use the skills they have been learning and practicing. SNA members engage in community health and service-learning projects, have opportunities to become involved in the state (NC Association of Nursing Students) and national (National Student Nurses Association) nursing organizations, and enjoy non-nursing activities where they can relax and have fun!

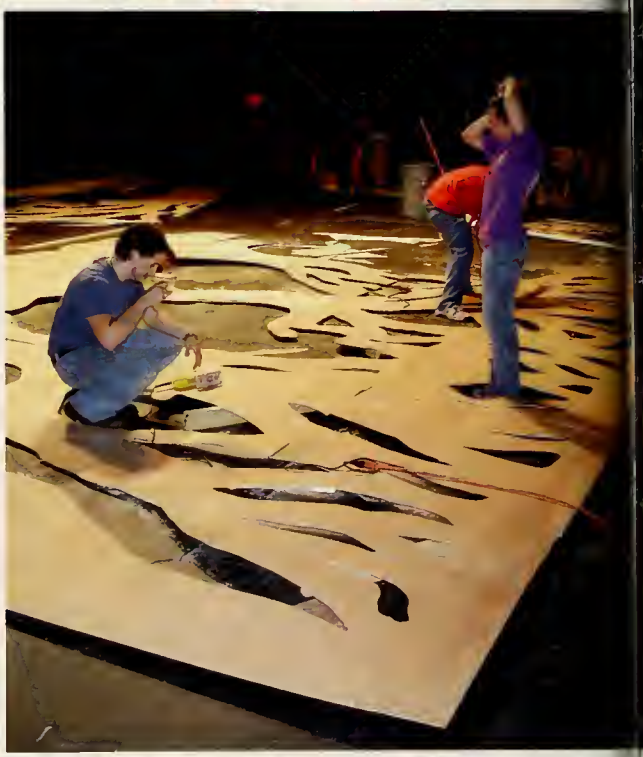
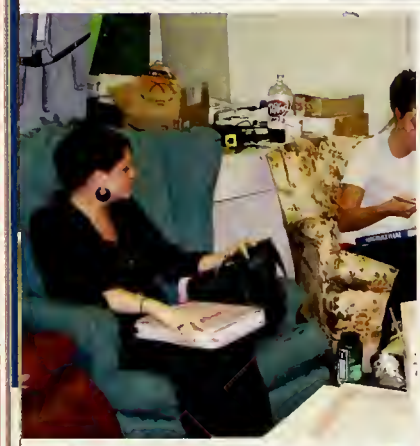
Theater

Theater: behind the scenes

Every year, students, faculty, and the greater community turn out to see the spectacular productions performed at Gardner-Webb every year, but what they do not see are the hours of hard work put in behind the scenes. From practicing lines in the green room, to building sets, to fine tuning the sound and lighting, Gardner-Webb students excell in a well rounded theater experience.





University Fellows

The University Fellows scholarship is a highly competitive scholarship offered to two students a year. The scholarship is valued at 80% of the current $14,648 yearly tuition. Applicants must reside on campus, be enrolled full time and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.0.

WGWG 88.3

Radio for the People!

WGWG 88.3 FM (wgwg.org) has been a broadcast service of Gardner-Webb University since 1974. What began as a 5,000-watt radio station operating from dawn until dusk has become a 50,000-watt media outlet reaching listeners 24 hours a day North of the Carolinas. Our on-air signal reaches 16 counties in North and South Carolina, but our online stream is world-wide. We have regular listeners in Asia, Europe and Africa. That's a huge jump from Boiling Springs, said Neal T. Manning, II, general manager of WGWG. WGWG is a non-commercial station that specializes in Roots and Americana music, covering a wide range of styles including Blues, Bluegrass, Alternative Country, Old Time, Folk and Roots Rock. The roots approach to music emphasizes the diversity of musical traditions while creating community through song and thought. Roots songwriters and performers forge new directions, blurring and breaking the musical limits of commercial radio. The station features artists like Johnny Cash, Tom Petty, Ralph Stanley, Robert Johnson, Joni Mitchell, John Hiatt, Alison Krauss, Old Crow Medicine Show, Emmylou Harris, Sam Bush and many more. We also welcome local and regional musicians; you'll hear these artists back to back with major charting artists each day, said Manning. In addition to music, WGWG brings daily newscasts to listeners, as well as coverage of sports and area weather forecasts. WGWG also offers nationally syndicated programs each week that focus on parenting, the environment, the legal system, global issues, matters of religion and more. WGWG also gives students at GWU who are interested in radio the chance to gain real life experience through internships and work-study positions. Students are given opportunities to explore their talents in front of and behind the microphone, said Manning. Some serve as hosts for radio shows while others are involved in production work. Manning states, If you listen to our station for ten minutes, you will hear a lot of artists that you may have never heard before. Our station is for people who are looking for an alternative to the commercialism in radio today, that is where we fit in.

2009

Yearbook Staff

2009 featured a dedicated, largely young, and enthusiastic yearbook staff, which had the opportunity to produce the first ever full color edition of The Webb, the Gardner-Webb yearbook. With such talent, we look forward to continuously improving the yearbook with each coming year.

The 2008-2009 Yearbook Staff would like to thank Dean Bruce Moore, Karissa Weir, Dr. Bob Carey, the Pilot Photo Staff, the Sports Publicity Office, Dustin Cox, Mark Houser, Noel Manning, and all other faculty, staff, and students who, through their generous contributions of pictures, captions, copy, advice, and time helped to make this, the first ever Gardner-Webb University yearbook to feature full color, a success.
